About the Book

This book is about all of my blog articles on my blog so far except for one because I didn't really like that one so I didn't put it on.

School so far

October 6, 2011

I like school so far because I have an awesome teacher, Mr. Ahlness. We get to do fun stuff on the computers. But something I don't like is at lunch. We have name tags that say all of the teacher's names on them so all of the kids have to sit with their own table with their own class mates so I can't sit with my friends in the other classes. But I can see them at recess and play with them at recess.

The Map Test

September 30, 2011

The Map test to me was some of the questions were hard but some of them were easy and when I was in kindergarten they were harder to me but I'm sure they will get more easy as I get older because they already are and I don't like math. Because sometimes it can be hard

My Favorite things

October 11, 2011

My favorite foods are tacos, ice cream, and spaghetti. My favorite things to do on my school playground are the monkey bars and the slides. My favorite colors are gold, silver, and I also like blue because I don't see gold and silver but when I do I really like it but I see blue a lot and I still like it. My favorite subject in school is lunch, and gym

My Resolutions and Wishes

January 5, 2012

Resolutions

1. That I will try to get up earlier.
2. That I would try to make my desk a little more organized at school.
3. I will try not to say things I don't mean.

Wishes

1. That at school we would get to have snacks if we were good.
2. That I would get an ipad.
3. That I will be a model one day.

The Turkey Story

November 18, 2011

Once upon a time there was a turkey named Sam.

He was just eating food at night. He got a little tired so he went to bed. When he woke up in the morning he saw some people in the window. He thought they were just visitors so he went back inside and asked his friend Susie if she knew who they were but Susie said she didn't know who they were. She also said, "Can you show me them to me?" Sam said that he could.

They started walking to where they were.

When they got there Sam said, "So do you know them?" Susie said no. They started walking back inside.

Sam went to ask his other friend Mara. He asked her and she said she didn't know what he was talking about. Sam said that he could show Mara what he was talking about so they were on there way. When they got there Mara said, "I'm pretty sure I don't know who they are." So they started going back inside when they got inside Mara went back to take her nap and Sam went to find somewhere to sit. He found a spot right by the door. A couple minutes later he got up and peeked out the window. He saw a little boy say to the people he was wondering who they were, that he could not wait to have turkey for dinner and on Thanksgiving dinner. the people went and found sam and put him in the oven.

Sam found a crack because the oven wasn't shut all the way.

Sam felt very scared. when he escaped from the oven he went back out side and looked in the window of the house and saw that the kids were waiting for the dinner.

He saw that the door was open a little so he opened it more and escaped from the barn he found a little closet so he opened it and saw a duck costume. He said to himself, "I think it will fit." He got it on and he said, "It looks good on me." He went out the door and ran into the woods and returned safe. The End!

My Christmas story

My Christmas story

December 13, 2011

It all started when it was about 8:00 in the morning. Me and my brothers Colton and Casey, also my Mom and Dad were getting ready to go to my Grandma and Grampa's house. So it took about three hours to get there.

We were on our way. It had been about a half of an hour and my brothers and me were already saying we were hungry and thirsty. My parents kept saying we can stop in about five minutes for something to eat and drink. We kept moaning and groaning for when we were going to get there.

It was about ten minutes later and we were just stopping for some donuts and water.

My brothers and me all hurried out the door and started walking in the store. I kind of shouted out DONUTS and my brothers laughed. I did too. A little.

After me and my brothers got our donuts and water we got back in the car. My dad started driving and after a couple hours we got there. But when we pulled in the driveway I was sleeping so Casey woke me up. Then when I woke up in the car Colton said, "Guys get out it is snowing," so we hurried out and got our stuff. I ran inside the house, said hi to my grandma and, grandpa gave them a huge hug, went to bed, and that is my Christmas story.

Trip

March 1, 2012

Yesterday our class went to the Pacific Science Center. We had a lot of fun we went on the bus got there and my favorite part of it was when we went to the laser show. Going to the laser show was my favorite part because everybody got up went to the front of the room and danced. Me and my friends danced with me. It was a lot of fun. When the laser show was over we went and had lunch. When we went to lunch I sat right by my friends. We had a good lunch. Than we went and looked arownd. Me and most of my class were freezing but it was really fun at the same time. After all of that we went to the butterfly room. the butter fly room was really fun but none of the butterflys landed on me. Then after all the fun we had to go back on the bus and back to school. The bus ride felt kind of long but we got back to school. That was a really fun field trip.

Holiday lights

January 10, 2012

So I'm thinking about well let me just start telling you right now.

You don't have to take your holiday lights down right after the holiday, they make your house more colorful and, they also look good looking on lots of things. I think they look best on the side of your house or in your house.

But really I mean you don't have to take them down right after the holiday. I wouldn't
